

I urge the FCC not to implement any rules or suggest any new legislation that would weaken or adversely effect Indiana's strong no call law. Prior to Indiana's No Call law going into affect, we would receive as many as 8 telephone solicitations per day starting at 6:00am and going as late as 11:00pm. Currently, under Indiana's strong protection, we maybe receive 1 call per month for sollicitiation.

The whole basis my objection to any weakening of Indiana's strong protection is that I own my telephone for MY use and information. Not to be interfered with by someone that might be a casual contact or someone that I might have happened to have said hello to or even requested information from once upon a time. If I want to talk with a solicitor, I WILL initiate the contact.

I sincerely request that the FCC do nothing that will injure the ciizens of the State of Indiana in general and my family in particular.

Thank You,

Robert C Brown, Jr.
